As reported earlier, President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Shavkat Mirziyoyev visited the Khorezm region on 27-28 January to review the progress in implementing social-economic reforms, creative and improvement works in the regions as well as to have a dialogue with people.

On the second day of his visit, the Head of our state went to the Khorezm branch of the Republican specialised cardiology centre.

This medical institution has departments of cardiology, cardio-rehabilitation, cardiac surgery, interventional cardiology, physiotherapy, as well as a polyclinic.

On the base of this medical institutions, the opening of a branch of A.N. Bakulev Scientific Centre for Cardiovascular Surgery (Moscow, Russia) is planned. This will allow to carry out diagnostics and treatment of heart diseases in new-borns, to render specialised medical aid to over 3 thousand patients annually. This clinic will be a regional cardiology centre for the population of the Republic of Karakalpakstan, Khorezm and Bukhara regions.

Further development of primary healthcare, training of professionals for rural medical centres, early detection of diseases, strengthening prevention efforts, improving the medical culture of people. Such centres, along with treating patients, should contribute to solving these tasks as well, Shavkat Mirziyoyev said.

Around 1100 students are enrolled at the Urgench branch of the Tashkent medical academy. 161 professors and teachers work at 16 departments.

This branch will be a foundation for a clinic, to be established in cooperation with the Pavlov First Saint Petersburg State Medical University. The clinic will have departments of endocrinology, otolaryngology, haematology, allergology, therapy.

The specialists of this university will not only teach, but also carry out practical work on diagnostics and treatment. This system will allow future doctors to deeply absorb the modern methods of world medicine during the learning process.

The President of our country has particularly noted that these two institutions, to be created at the Urgench branch of the Tashkent medical academy, will have a huge historical, social significance for the population of Aral Sea area. The centres will contribute to the effective treatment of common diseases in the area, improve the knowledge and skills of health workers and teachers.
